

Direct Contracting and REACH: Handing Traditional Medicare to Wall Street

Inserts profit-seeking middlemen in Traditional Medicare

This program invites profit-seeking middlemen to “manage” care for seniors and people with disabilities, allowing companies to keep up to 40% of what they don't spend on care as overhead & profit.

Assigns beneficiaries without their knowledge or consent

Medicare automatically assigns beneficiaries to a Direct Contracting Entity if their primary care physician has joined a DCE. The only way for beneficiaries to opt out is to find a different primary care doctor.

Puts profits ahead of patient care

Virtually any type of company can be a Direct Contracting/REACH middleman, including commercial insurance companies, private equity investment firms, and other Wall Street profiteers.

Expands profiteering to all of Medicare

Direct Contracting companies have already enrolled 1.8 million beneficiaries, with plans to take over all of Traditional Medicare in the next decade.
